UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

KURT WONG,

Plaintiff,

vs.

WYNN LAS VEGAS, LLC, a Nevada Limited
Liability Company,

Defendants.

RFB
Case No. 2:20-cv-02086-~~RJB~~-NJK

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c), Defendant Wynn Las Vegas, LLC (“WLV” or “Defendant”) and Plaintiff Kurt Wong (“Plaintiff”), (collectively, Plaintiff and Defendant may be referred to as the “Parties”), by and through their respective counsel of record, anticipate discovery in this action will involve production and/or disclosure of confidential and/or private information and materials about non-parties requiring special protection from disclosure to and use by the public and unauthorized third-parties. Accordingly, the Parties hereby stipulate and agree that the handling of such information and materials in these proceedings shall be governed by the provisions set forth below.

I. APPLICATION

This Protective Order shall govern the designation and handling of “Confidential Information” (defined below) pertaining to non-parties, including Defendant’s former and current employees, produced in this case, whether by voluntary production or disclosure or in response to any formal discovery procedure, including designation and handling of nonpublic information of a confidential nature. This Protective Order does not affect any party's obligations under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to produce documents as required by the rules of discovery or an order of the Court. The purpose of this Protective Order is to facilitate the handling of nonpublic information of a confidential and/or private nature. If material is otherwise already part of the public record as of the entry of this Protective Order, the material in question will not be subject to this Protective Order. The mere filing or production of material designated as "Confidential" by the non-designating party does not remove the material from the protection of this Protective Order.

II. DEFINITIONS

A. "Confidential Information" means information or an item, in any form, whether tangible or intangible, that: (1) is in good faith designated as "Confidential" by the producing or designating party, and (2) that, as claimed by the producing or designating party, contains non-public personal information of a non-party (including, but not limited to, address, telephone number, email address, birth date, social security number, employment records, medical information, financial and banking information, etc.).

B. "Disclosed" is used in its broadest sense and includes, inter alia, directly or indirectly shown, divulged, revealed, produced, described, transmitted or otherwise communicated, in whole or in part.

C. "Discovery Material(s)" means any documents, electronically stored information, responses to written discovery, deposition testimony, transcripts and exhibits, responses to subpoenas, requests for information and/or written information, whether produced voluntarily or involuntarily, or other disclosure or production in response to a discovery request in this litigation by any party.

D. "Document" is defined as the term is used in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34.

III. TYPES OF MATERIALS THAT MAY BE DESIGNATED AS CONFIDENTIAL

Any Discovery Material or other documents, information, or materials may be designated by a producing party or non-party as Confidential under this Order. A "Confidential" designation

1 shall constitute a representation to the Court that counsel for the producing party (or producing 2 person, in the case of a non-party) believes in good faith that the material so designated constitutes 3 Confidential Information as defined in this Order. To the extent practicable, only those parts of 4 Discovery Materials that require protection shall be designated as Confidential. Mass, 5 indiscriminate, or blanket designations are prohibited. Unjustified designations may expose the 6 designating party to sanctions, which could include, without limitation, the award of attorneys' fees
 7 and costs, and the striking of confidential designations. If a designating party later learns that 8 information it designated as confidential does not qualify for protection, then the party must 9 promptly notify all Parties that it is withdrawing the mistaken designation.

10 IV. DESIGNATION OF DISCOVERY MATERIALS AS CONFIDENTIAL

11 A. Marking Protected Documents.

12 1. Protected documents shall be designated as containing Confidential
 13 Information by affixing to them the legend "CONFIDENTIAL" in all caps, at least 10-point bold
 14 font, in a location that makes the designation readily apparent, preferably in the lower left-hand 15 corner. The fact that a document is stamped "Confidential" by one party shall not be construed as 16 an admission by any other party that such document is Confidential Information, nor shall it limit
 17 or preclude the right of any party to object to the designation and to file any appropriate motion(s) 18 to determine the propriety of such designation.

19 2. If the producing party inadvertently fails to stamp or otherwise appropriately
 20 designate or list certain documents, material, or information as "Confidential" upon their production 21 or disclosure, such inadvertent failure to designate shall not constitute nor be deemed a waiver of a 22 subsequent claim of protected treatment under this Order.

23 B. Designating Testimony.

24 1. Any party may designate testimony as "Confidential Information" by 25 making a statement to that effect on the record at the deposition or other proceeding or within ten 26 (10) days after receipt of the transcript of deposition or other proceeding by counsel. When 27 Confidential Information is designated on the record at a deposition or other proceeding, the party
 28 claiming the testimony is Confidential Information shall make arrangements with the court reporter

1 taking and transcribing such proceeding to label each page containing the testimony with the 2 designation “CONFIDENTIAL” and all counsel and parties shall treat pages of testimony so 3 designated as a protected document and the testimony itself as Confidential Information.

4 2. If Confidential Information is discussed, disclosed, revealed, or used at a 5 deposition, then only counsel for the parties, the court reporters, the Parties, any translators, the 6 videographers, the witness, and any other Permissible Recipient shall be present for that portion of 7 the deposition. Parties shall endeavor to give reasonable advance notice if they expect a deposition
8 will cover Confidential Information so that the other Parties can ensure only authorized individuals 9 are present when such material is disclosed or used.

10 3. If a deposition witness is not a Permissible Recipient (defined below), then 11 Confidential Information may be discussed with or disclosed to the witness only if (i) doing so is 12 necessary to elicit testimony from the witness that likely would be relevant to a claim or defense in 13 the lawsuit and it is not reasonably possible to elicit such testimony from the witness without 14 showing or informing the witness of the Confidential Information; and (ii) before being shown or 15 informed of any Confidential Information, the witness is given a copy of this Order and executes 16 Exhibit A.

17 a. If a Party believes that showing or disclosing the Party’s Confidential
18 Information to a deposition witness who is not a Permissible Recipient is not necessary to elicit 19 testimony from the witness that likely would be relevant to a claim or defense in the lawsuit (the 20 “Objecting Party”), then the Objecting Party and the Party conducting the deposition (the 21 “Deposing Party”) shall immediately meet and confer regarding the issue and if necessary, attempt 22 to contact the Court for a dispute resolution conference. As a last resort, the Objecting Party may 23 elect to terminate the deposition and file a motion for protective order or seek other relief from the 24 Court to preclude the witness from being shown or informed of Confidential Information. The Court
25 may assess reasonable fees and costs against the terminating party if he finds that the Objecting 26 Party’s objection or termination of the deposition was without justification or in bad faith.

27 b. If a deposition witness refuses to execute Exhibit A, then, before 28 disclosing Confidential Information to or discussing it with the witness, the examiner must seek

1 relief from the Court to compel the witness to execute Exhibit A or for a protective order prohibiting 2 the witness from discussing, disclosing, or using the Confidential Information.

3 C. Subsequent Designation. If a party discovers that material or documents containing 4 Confidential Information have been provided to the opposing party without being properly 5 designated under this Protective Order, that party shall promptly notify the receiving party in 6 writing of the same. The notification shall include an identification of the documents or information 7 (by bates stamp number or some other specific form of identification), and the receiving party shall 8 affix a stamp identifying each document or item of information so identified as “CONFIDENTIAL” 9 within ten (10) days unless the parties agree that some other procedure for remedying the 10 inadvertence is more appropriate under the circumstances. A Party’s inadvertent failure to designate 11 Discovery Materials as confidential shall not, on its own, waive the Party’s right to designate the 12 Discovery Materials as confidential in the future.

13 V. PERMISSIBLE USE OF “CONFIDENTIAL” INFORMATION, DOCUMENTS,
14 OR MATERIALS

15 A. Limited Use.

16 1. All parties and persons who review, possess, obtain, or otherwise have 17 access to Discovery Materials or other documents, information, or materials containing 18 “Confidential Information” shall not disclose, reveal or discuss such information to or with any 19 person who is not authorized to receive it, except as set forth herein. All Confidential Information 20 disclosed, produced or exchanged in this case shall be used by the party(ies) or person(s) to whom 21 the information is disclosed solely for the purpose of prosecuting or defending the claims and 22 defenses in this case, through and including appeal(s), if any, and not for any other purpose, 23 including, but not limited to, personal, administrative, business, governmental, commercial, 24 judicial, legal proceedings, or private dispute resolution.

25 2. If a party or any of its representatives, including counsel, discloses any 26 Confidential Information to persons who are not authorized to use or possess such material, the 27 party shall (a) provide immediate written notice of the disclosure to the party whose Confidential 28 Information was disclosed; (b) use its best efforts to retrieve the Confidential Information and all copies from the unauthorized recipient; (c) inform the unauthorized recipient of the unauthorized

1 disclosure and provide them with a copy of this Protective Order; and (d) use reasonable efforts to 2 have the unauthorized recipient execute Exhibit A. If a party has actual knowledge that Confidential
 3 Information is being used or possessed by a person not authorized to use or possess that material, 4 regardless of how the material was disclosed or obtained by such person, the party shall provide 5 immediate written notice of the unauthorized use or possession to the party whose material is being 6 used or possessed. No party shall have an affirmative obligation to inform itself regarding such 7 possible use or possession.

8 3. If any person receiving information covered by this Protective Order is: (a) 9 subpoenaed in another action or proceeding; (b) served with a request or demand in another action
 10 to which he, she, or it is a party; or (c) served with any other legal process by one not a party to this 11 action, seeking information designated as “Confidential” pursuant to this Order, the subpoenaed 12 party shall promptly give written notice, by hand or facsimile transmission, within forty-eight (48) 13 hours of receipt of such subpoena, request, demand, or legal process to the party that produced or 14 designated the material as “Confidential.” The subpoenaed party or anyone else subject to this 15 Order shall be under no obligation to take any other action or measures to preserve the 16 confidentiality of any such information in connection with such subpoena, request, demand, or legal 17 process. Nothing herein shall be construed as requiring the subpoenaed party or anyone else covered 18 by this Order to challenge or appeal any order requiring production of Confidential Information, to 19 subject itself to any penalties for non-compliance with any legal process or order, or to seek any 20 relief from the Court.

21 B. Disclosure of Protected Material.

22 1. Confidential Information. Notwithstanding Section V.A. above, access to 23 documents stamped “Confidential” shall be limited to the following persons (“Permissible 24 Recipients”):

25 a. Counsel: Counsel for the respective parties to this Protective Order, 26 including in-house counsel and counsel’s Support Staff (i.e., paralegals, administrative assistants,
